Pen Pictures of Our County Seat and Old Citizens by Wm. E. Connelley, of Topeka, Kan.

The following is a letter written to the KENTUCKY MOUNTAINEER by one of our erstwhile Magoffin county boys, Wm. E. Connelley of Topeka, Kansas. Mr. Connelley went to Kansas a good many years ago and it is only fair to say that he has made a success, as our Mountain boys from Eastern Kentucky always do, having held some of the highest positions of the state and at once refused to accept the nomination for Governor of Kansas (on the Republican ticket). He has written more than a dozen Histories of Kansas and the western country, and is now writing the History of Eastern Kentucky.

In order that you may better remember Mr. W. C. Connelley we will say he is the son of Constantine Connelley (the boot and shoe maker) and the father of Dr. W. C. Connelley of Salyersville.

Topeka, Kas. Feb. 27, 1912. Kentucky Mountaineer:—I am glad to see a newspaper from Salyersville. It is many years since I saw the old town. My father moved there in 1858 from Jennie's creek. He built the first tavern, long known as the Hager house (where E. B. Arnett now lives). I remember well when it was going up. There most of the young men of town boarded. Dan Hager, Charley Bailey, William Childers, Mike Kimberland, Louis Conley, and many others. Lizzie LeMaster was our cook. The first artist in that country was Hiram Dale. He came from Ohio. He had his studio on our back porch, and made tin-types only. I wish to get some of his old pictures. He made them of Uncle Sam Salyers, Caleb May, William Blair, William Adams, Sanford Reed and many others.

I remember the last muster ever held in county. It was held in the meadow of Uncle Billie Prater, up the Burning fork. I can yet see the long lines of men marching and hear the fife and drums.

There were slaves about the town. The Adams, Caudill, Prater, and Gardner families owned slaves; and there were others. My mother was the first abolitionist in that country. She talked much about the sin of keeping people in slavery. My father and his family Jackson were Democrats. He joined the 14th Ky., but for some reason did not serve in that regiment. He served in the company of Captain Smith Adams in the 45th. When he came home he always voted the Republican ticket.

I saw two skirmishes in Salyersville. In the last James Bailey was captured and carried away. I have forgotten whether he ever got back home or not. That was a long time ago.

Of the boys of my day I recall Jeff Prater, the boys of Caleb May, Sam May, Branch Higgins Ben Caudill, John Caudill, Newt Adams, Green Adams, Jimmie and Fillmore Evans, and Jim Adams who died soon after the war. Will Reed and some boys named Brooks I remember, too. And there were John and Granville Kimberlin. Granville had the biggest Adams Apple of any boy in the country, and a voice like a trumpet. John P. Salyers boarded at our house and went to school, and I think Branch Higgins did also. I remember that Will Prater had a mighty red head, and that I thought his sister Sarah was the prettiest girl ever lived.

There are many scenes of the old town that I love to call up. County Court days were stirring times. Uncle Jack Patrick was a fighter in his day. Len Johnston fought him one day in front of the old Adams store. We lived in the "row" then, a row of buildings in front of the tan yard. The tan yard was just behind Taylor Prater's shop and they brought Uncle Jack into our house and worked with him a long time to bring him back to earth. George Johnston and one of the Gulleys fought once. There was water and deep mud under the store house. They rolled down into that and they both nearly drowned. Miles May married the sister of the Johnston boys.

Dave Sublett and Wiley Hows were the lawyers. Holly Powers was the Judge. After the war Dick Apperson came on as Judge. The Adams boys and I used to play marbles with him.

I request the boys of my day to write up their recollections of those days and that you publish them. It will make much better reading than arguments about creeds and churches. I have known fellows to argue Scripture with Ben Puckett week at a time, all to no purpose. I never knew any one to convince any one by arguing with him. And I never knew any one saved or made better by arguing the merits of churches. Any church is a mighty sight too good for any of us if we believe in it as we should. Nothing in church arguments. While I lived there I can recall that most of the Baptist thought Methodists on their road to hell. That belief was returned by the Methodists. That was a fine Christian spirit. I hope it is now changed. It is the condition the man is in that saves him, not the church.

Mr. S. S. Elam,

Dear sir:—Your paper of the 16th made its way to my home today. I was sure glad to see it as it was almost like talking to one of my old friends whom I left in Kentucky 15 years ago.

Everybody should take his county paper. I am sure you are able to give to the people a good, nice, clean paper. I am sending you $1.00 for the paper. Send me some sample copies. I think I can get you some subscribers out here. We have had a very cold winter.

Wishing you good luck with your paper I will close.

Ben Hammond and family of Grayfox, will roll out next Monday for the State of W. Va., where he recently rented a farm for $1,000, per year.

All O. K. brothers I am with you to stay as long as you kick money and whisky out of the election and I am against the man that advocates it. I believe that the money and intoxicating drinks are the greatest evils in the elections that could possibly exist, and when we vote for the man that advocates or indulges in them I fear he will have to answer in judgement for robbery, robbing our children as well as our nation of their justice.

We often hear prayers offered to the Supreme Ruler asking him to give us Godfearing men to rule our nation.

Now, are we voting that way? If not it is now high time to begin to refrain from the great existing evil. So I truly hope that old Magoffin will begin now to reform and by the election have money and liquor cut out and select good sober men for officers. "When the wicked reign the people mourn."

BENE.

Josephus Howard and Parnell Picklesimer were both in Hospital Friday night. Howard got well quickly Saturday evening to go to a splendid lecture given by Mr. Ott Edward—it was called "Sour Grapes." Its principal lines of thought were—The eradicating of criminals, of feeble minded, of so many deformities, by laws being passed prohibiting the marriage of the invalid or any feeble minded or feeble bodied persons. That whatever a person becomes, he inherits a great deal from the parents. Also there should be a ninety day betrothal of every person's marriage announced to the public. That the clerk before issuing marriage certificates should trace each one of the betrothal back to birth and let each party, community, and State have a record of the marriage and that the law may be made uniform all over the union. Therefore it will be readily found out who he is whom he represents himself to be; whether he is single, has one wife or a dozen. In this way preventing so many divorces also stops hasty marriages gives people time to think, and the result is fewer divorces by knowing the character of the men to be married.

Fewer deformities and feeble minded, by the virile and healthy marrying. It seemed a little visionary yet was practical good and the kind of laws we need. He wanted us all to begin reformation at home. Strike at the root of the evil and thus kill it, and not at the result, that teaches us a lesson. If we want our boys and girls to become good teach them at home to love and obey father and mother and respect with awe the Creator. Begin within ourselves to cure the corrupt and strive not to excuse our wickedness or our lawbreaking and point other persons out, and think we really conceal ours while some one is caused to look at that other's fault. So, also if we carry the old disease in our own soul's politics right at home we will all then, when cured be able to cleanse the corrupt who sneaks behind a political party in order to satisfy his greed and

Dorsie Lykins had to go back to the Hospital and sure enough

Roosevelt or Taft?

The Louisville Evening Post Has the Following to Say in Regard to the Republican Rotten Boroughs.

Mr. Roosevelt's letter announcing the fact that he will accept the Republican nomination for President if the same is tendered him is addressed to the Republican Governors of California, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Michigan, Kansas and Missouri.

These States, all of which will presumably instruct for Mr. Roosevelt, will have combined delegate vote in the Chicago national convention of 146.

It is interesting to note that this combined vote of 146 is exactly the same as the delegate vote of Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and Tennessee, the seven states that are expected to be most certainly for Mr. Taft in the national convention.

It is interesting, therefore, to examine the strength of the Republican party in these two groups of States, the same in number and the same in delegate vote.

The showing of the first group if as follows:

State	Delegate vote	Republican vote
California.....	25	177,191
Nebraska.....	16	127,000
New Hampshire.....	8	53,149
Wyoming.....	6	20,846
Michigan.....	30	335,580
Kansas.....	20	197,216
Missouri.....	36	347,203
Total.....	146	1,257,275

Contrast this with the strength of the Republican party in the Republican rotten boroughs of the South:

State	Delegate vote	Republican vote
Georgia.....	28	41,692
Louisiana.....	20	8,958
Mississippi.....	20	4,363
North Carolina.....	24	114,837
South Carolina.....	18	3,963
Florida.....	12	10,654
Tennessee.....	24	118,324
Total.....	146	302,893

All of the seven States that stand for Roosevelt in the first skirmish for the nomination can be carried by the Republican party this fall if the circumstances be favorable; not an electoral vote can possibly be secured for the Republican nominee in the States where Mr. Taft is the strongest.

It will be for the Republican party to decide if, because of a false and unrepresentative system of apportionment, it will permit a handful of postmasters and revenue gaugers in States where there is no Republican party to force upon the party a candidate doomed in advance to overwhelming defeat.

"Wherever the Republican party is strong it is for Roosevelt; wherever it is weak it is for Taft."

Revival Services.

Salyersville has had almost continuous revival services for the past three months, conducted by ministers of the Methodist, Baptist and Christian churches.

The Christian people of Salyersville are greatly encouraged by the results of these three revivals. It remains to be seen what permanent results come from these revivals.

It is easier for the driftwood of a stream to stay in a current than it is for it to lodge on the bank so long as the current is strong. When the current begins to weaken then it is that the drift begins to go to the bank and it takes some effort to stay in the current.

So it is with the Christian life. So long as all are in the current of revival meetings the Christian has easy sailing, but when the revivals are over and we begin to deal with the humdrum or every day life we find that we are not so strong. It is then that we need to assert our strength.

It is then that the weaklings begin to lodge—some on intemperance snags, some on the bank of do-nothing, some on the boulders of back-biting and tattling, etc. The world as well as the church does not judge our religion by the revival or Sunday dress parade that we give to it.

They must be shown that our religion is like an every day garment—that it will give us service every day in the week as well as on Sunday.

While the Ministers of these various congregations have differed on some things they are united on paramount issues of the day—sin and lawlessness. They are all out spoken on these issues as these are the great draw back to the progress of all that is good. If these meetings have so broadened our views and have given us sufficient courage to stand in one solid phalanx against sin and lawlessness and to be out spoken against them always, Salyersville shall reap rich rewards from them.

On the other hand if the various members of churches imbued the idea that the Christians duty is to fight denominations rather than sin and lawlessness then we fear the results of these services shall not be so uplifting and so helpful to Salyersville as they should have been.

Our motto should be, "United we stand divided we fall" in county and town as well as State government. If we profess to be Christians then we should endeavor to follow Christ in being always out spoken against sin and lawlessness—the life-sapping institutions of mankind. Such are some of the fruits of true religion.

Our Announcement.

A few weeks ago the Editor of the Mountaineer made the announcement that he would be a candidate for delegate to the National Convention at Chicago.

We are for Roosevelt for President first last and all the time.

We believe that we can more effectively champion his cause by not being a candidate for delegate. For this reason we desire to withdraw our announcement.

Contrary Fork of Pricy.

Editor Mountaineer:—News is as scarce here as alligators are at the North Pole.

Laughing Bill Boomer came down the other day laughing as though he would die. I said what's the fun Bill? He said the funniest thing—ha! ha! ha! about five minutes. He caught his breath and said, "The funniest thing happened at our house that I ever knew." Then he continued, "seventeen"—and laughed and roared until I had to laugh. He caught his breath and said, "Seventeen of my children had the measles and I guess the whole family would have had them if they hadn't run out." And he laughed and laughed. Bill is a merry old soul.

I see that Ruie Johnson has been writing you as though he is a great fellow. Now I just want to tell you that he has one wonderful fault. He's like a good many other young men in this settlement too. He's the biggest coward of the whole Johnson generation. I was 57 years old when Ruie first gazed into his mother's eyes and if I couldn't take a fishing pole and run Ruie all over the place it would be because he was spiked up on moonshine or moonred one.

You see it's this way. Ruie runs with a passel of boys that's as rough as they get to be, and he's got to be one of the biggest in the bunch. Now I wasn't a tin angel when I was a young man myself. In fact I was a pretty hard knot until after the war. During those four years I learned a thing or two. But if I do say it myself I never was a sneak in coward as Ruie and a lot of his chums are. I never thought of carrying a gun in my hip pocket in order to be brave.

If a man is so pleg-taked cowardly that he'd rather carry a gun than to run the risk of having his nose mashed rather than to be called a coward, I say that he's the worst kind of a coward. Now Ruie was a pretty decent kind of a chap until his father let him take up with a gang that wasn't worth powder and lead to kill them with and then he got that Johnson ambition aroused to key him up with the leaders of the gang and he's gone some wonderful gaits.

When I was a boy folks would drink and talk and not be fussy, but sarn my skin if the war or the government or something else hasn't made an ouacious change in liquors as well as people. For the last few years I've been progressive—I've stopped using liquor at all except in camphor for the old woman.

But I declare I don't believe Ruie or a single one of his crowd would fight a Thomas cat without having a lot of liquor under his belt and a gun swung to his side. It goes all over me to see such young men going to waste. If my rheumatism and religion didn't prevent it I'd get Ruie out and show him how young men fought in my day. I'm awful tempted to do it and I may do so before you hear from me again. It would be Ruie's salvation. You're truly, Old Mr. Johnson turn me loose.

Revival Services.

Salyersville has had almost continuous revival services for the past three months, conducted by ministers of the Methodist, Baptist and Christian churches. The christian people of Salyersville are greatly encouraged by the results of these three revivals. It remains to be seen what permanent results come from these revivals.

It is easier for the driftwood of a stream to stay in a current than it is for it to lodge on the bank so long as the current is strong. When the current begins to weaken then it is that the drift begins to go to the bank and it takes some effort to stay in the current.

So it is with the christian life. So long as all are in the current of revival meetings the christian has easy sailing, but when the revivals are over and we begin to deal with the humdrum or every day life we find that we are not so strong. It is then that we need to assert our strength. It is then that the weaklings begin to lodge—some on intemperance snags, some on the bank of do-nothing, some on the boulders of back-biting and tattling, etc. The world as well as the church does not judge our religion by the revival or Sunday dress parade that we give to it.

They must be shown that our religion is like an every day garment—that it will give us service every day in the week as well as on Sunday.

While the Ministers of these various congregations have differed on some things they are united on paramount issues of the day—sin and lawlessness. They are all out spoken on these issues as these are the great draw back to the progress of all that is good. If these meetings have so broadened our views and have given us sufficient courage to stand in one solid phalanx against sin and lawlessness and to be out spoken against them always, Salyersville shall reap rich rewards from them.

On the other hand if the various members of churches imbued the idea that the christians duty is to fight denominations rather than sin and lawlessness then we fear the results of these services shall not be so uplifting and so helpful to Salyersville as they should have been.

Our motto should be, "United we stand divided we fall" in county and town as well as State government. If we profess to be christians then we should endeavor to follow Christ in being always out spoken against sin and lawlessness—the life-sapping institutions of mankind. Such are some of the fruits of true religion.

Our Announcement.

A few weeks ago the Editor of the Mountaineer made the announcement that he would be a candidate for delegate to the National Convention at Chicago. We are for Roosevelt for President first last and all the time.

We believe that we can more effectively champion his cause by not being a candidate for delegate. For this reason we desire to withdraw our announcement.

Laughing Bill Boomer came down the other day laughing as though he would die. I said what's the fun Bill? He said the funniest thing—ha! ha! ha! about five minutes. He caught his breath and said, "Seventeen of my children had the measles and I guess the whole family would have had them if they hadn't run out." And he laughed and laughed. ## Burton and Harvey Break Jail

But State Guards Assist in Re-capturing Them.

"Burton is out! Burton is out!" was the alarm that was given at 10 o'clock Thursday morning when Berry Burton who was held without bail, and Charley Harvey, who was held in default of $2,500 bond for the murder of Sam P. Simer, were making their escape across the valley of the State Road Fork.

They were in the corridor with other prisoners and called for water when Coon Lovely, deputy jailor, went to the cage, opened the door and stooped down for the water bucket, Burton rushed around the corner and struck Lovely on the head with a chair post, that he had secured by breaking up a chair. This blow almost knocked Lovely to the floor when Burton struck him the second time and Lovely clinched him. Lovely then threw Burton on the floor when Harvey tried to break Lovely's hold. A government prisoner then loosed Harveys hold on Lovely. Harvey then broke Lovely's revolver holster and wrested the revolver from Lovely and gave the revolver to Burton. They rushed down stairs running over Mrs. Brown, the jailors wife who had heard the fuss and was coming up the stairway.

Claud Patrick had heard the alarm and was swinging to the jail door on the outside, and Dr. J. S. Cisco was rushing to his aid when the two prisoners jerked the door open. Burton threw his gun in Patrick's face until Harvey came by Patrick. Burton then threw the revolver on Dr. Cisco, running backwards until the corner of the jail house was reached, when they both ran up State Road Valley. They were followed by Louis Marshall and

Our foreign advertisers pay at the same rate.

Each subscriber four minutes. In order that our subscribers may fully appreciate, up-to-date public spirited people who make it possible for the Mountaineer to exist, we made the above calculation. Our labor alone, costs $3 per day, or 300 cents for 600 minutes of work. This is one-half cent per minute. In order to pay this item by subscriptions we must have 1200 subscribers. This does not include fuel, rent, or any other of the many expenses that we must meet.

If the Salyersville business and professional people support the Mountaineer, we can easily make a better paper than we now have. If they withdraw their advertisement we will be compelled to cut down our force of men, thereby giving you an inferior paper.

Now if you have any dealings in Salyersville, deal with the public spirited people who advertise or ask the people with whom you deal to advertise. These non-advertiser will have many excuses but they either do not have what the other fellow has who advertises, or they are too stingy to put any money in advertising.

The advertising rates of other Mountain papers are twice as much as ours. So you see that we are not over charging.

If you will help those who help your paper, then our merchants will not say, "It does not pay to advertise."

Death of Thomas Prater.

On Sunday, the 3rd day of March, relatives and friends congregated at the Prater Grave Yard on the Burning Fork, to witness the burial of Uncle Thomas Prater.

The burial was conducted under the auspices of the I. O. O. F. of which he was a member, and notwithstanding inclement weather every detail of the exercises was successfully carried out with impressive effect.

The unusual crowd that attended his burial, under the unfavorable conditions, was a high tribute of respect to his memory. His remains were lowered to their last resting place, the hills shrouded in robes of spot-snow, emblematical of the and character of him whose death was mourned. He was 87 years and six months of age. His death was not unexpected. For he had struggled, heroically with the grim reaper and at last was conquered. For weeks he had been a devoted member of the M. E. Church, and the simple Christian life that he lived may well be emulated by both young and old. While he was not a teacher, in the common acceptance of the term, but in its true meaning, which is a teacher, he was taught by actions what he believed rather than by words. He daily walks through life and faced adversity as well when the hand of destiny ed upon him, was one conspicuous sermon, more eloquent than human lips could express.

Reflecting upon the sorrows, temptations and the misfortunes that came in their turn to and the discontentment of life, even to those who are blessed with prosperity and the favors of this world can bestow, must think that man was created for a higher purpose than he here fulfill, and that death the burial does not end all, there is a better life to be led for beyond the grave.

The death of Uncle Thomas Prater the country has lost a modicum and a vacancy is made in the family circle.

are again made to note the silent tread of the last enemy, whose hand continues to wield the inevitable scythe of destruction, and at whose bidding the heart that has been drumming the life march of earth for these long years has ceased to perform its functions. Thus another spirit has returned unto God who gave it.

"Uncle Thomas Prater," as he was called by all who knew him, departed this life at his home near Salyersville, on March the 1st, 1912. Age, 87 years.

He had been a consistent member of the M. E. Church for a bout 71 years. He was raised to the sublime degree of a Master Mason at Salyersville, in 1879. Now, Whereas, this brother has entered the fruition of his immortality and heard the morning call of eternity, saying "it is enough, come up higher."

Be it resolved; That we point with pride to the Christian and Masonic world, the noble and character of our departed brother, and that we emulate his integrity and devotion in everything that makes men and the world better by having lived here; so when the voice that called us hence, from whom it gave him grief to part, may we join him in that Grand Lodge above, where no "Silver cord will be loosened," or "Colden bowl be broken," but will dwell throughout eternity, with the Grand Master of the universe presiding.

Be it further resolved; that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our records, a copy sent to the Masonic Home Journal, and Kentucky Mountaineer for publication and one to the widow of

I think that our only protection is to steer clear from all of them. Let's watch out for the swindler and drive him out of business. The sure way and also the cheap way to obtain a good apple orchard is to plant out or get the sprouts from old trees that have come up from old roots around old apple trees, set them out and let them have one or two years growth, then have a reliable man to graft them, using the kinds of fruit that you most prefer.

By doing that you can get the fruit that is adapted to your climate and have a good bearing orchard almost before you think it possible and at a minimum cost.

If you can't do the grafting yourself call on the expert of Ever, Ky., your Prater at the Prater House on that day. We predict a great success for Mr. Patrick if he continues to care for his guests as he has begun.

Burton and Harvey Break Jail

But State Guards Assist in Recapturing Them.

"Burton is out! Burton is out!" was the alarm that was given at 10 o'clock Thursday morning when Berry Burton who was held without bail, and Charley Harvey, who was held in default of $2,500 bond for the murder of Sam P. Simer, were making their escape across the valley of the State Road Fork.

They were in the corridor with other prisoners and called for water when Coon Lovely, deputy jailor, went to the cage, opened the door and stooped down for the water bucket, Burton rushed around the corner and struck Lovely on the head with a chair post, that he had secured by breaking up a chair. This blow almost knocked Lovely to the floor when Burton struck him the second time and Lovely clinched him. Lovely then threw Burton on the floor when Harvey tried to break Lovely's hold. A government prisoner then loosed Harveys hold on Lovely. Harvey then broke Lovely's revolver holster and wrested the revolver from Lovely and gave the revolver to Burton. They rushed down stairs running over Mrs. Brown, the jailors wife who had heard the fuss and was coming up the stairway.

Claud Patrick had heard the alarm and was swinging to the jail door on the outside, and Dr. J. S. Cisco was rushing to his aid when the two prisoners jerked the door open. Burton threw his gun in Patrick's face until Harvey came by Patrick. Burton then threw the revolver on Dr. Cisco, running backwards until the corner of the jail house was reached, when they both ran up State Road Valley. They were followed by Louis Marshal and others, and threw the revolver on these men, warning them not to follow.

When the alarm was given some of the State Guards rushed to the top of the court house and fired two shots as the prisoners went over the Burning fork ridge, cutting a fence wire near them.

John H. Patrick, ex-sheriff, who was on the other side of the ridge spoke to them. Burton was 10 feet away and leveled the forty four on Patrick and demanded his mule. Patrick had no gun but said, "you can kill me but you can't have my mule." Burton and Harvey went down the hill toward the Burning fork road and hollowed to James Crace and Doc Spradlin saying, that they would come down and give up if they would prevent their being hurt. This was agreed and the surrender was made. They were returned to jail where they were put in a cell. Both prisoners cried for some time, fearing the jailor would punish them.

Burton served one term in the penitentiary for the murder of Leander Holiday in Morgan county and is regarded as a desperado in this community.

Born to the wife of Jack Patrick March 1st, an extra fine boy.

R. H. Preston, of Magoffin county has 125 acres of land with three foot coal vein under all of it. One-half mile from town. Price, $1200.

Our foreign advertisers pay at the same rate. Each subscriber four minutes. In order that our subscribers may fully appreciate, up-to-date public spirited people who make it possible for the Mountaineer to exist, we made the above calculation. Our labor alone, costs $3 per day, or 300 cents for 600 minutes of work. This is one-half cent per minute. In order to pay this item by subscriptions we must have 1200 subscribers. This does not include fuel, rent, or any other of the many expenses that we must meet.

If the Salyersville business and professional people support the Mountaineer, we can easily make a better paper than we now have. If they withdraw their advertisement we will be compelled to cut down our force of men, thereby giving you an inferior paper.

Now if you have any dealings in Salyersville, deal with the public spirited people who advertise or ask the people with whom you deal to advertise. These non-advertiser will have many excuses but they either do not have what the other fellow has who advertises, or they are too stingy to put any money in advertising.

The advertising rates of other Mountain papers are twice as much as ours. So you see that we are not over charging.

If you will help those who help your paper, then our merchants will not say, "It does not pay to advertise."

Death of Thomas Prater.

On Sundry, the 3rd day of March, relatives and friends congregated at the Prater Grave Yard on the Burning Fork, to witness the burial of Uncle Thomas Prater. The burial was conducted under the auspices of the Masonic order, of which he was a member, and not withstanding the inclement weather every detail of the exercises was successfully carried out with impressive effect.

The unusual crowd that attended his burial, under the unfavorable conditions, was a high tribute of respect to his memory. As his remains were lowered to their last resting place, the hills were shrouded in robes of spotless snow, emblematical of the life and character of him whose death was mourned. He was 87 years and six months of age. His death was not unexpected. For weeks he had struggled, heroically with the grim reaper and at last was conquered. For weeks he has been a devoted member of the M. E. Church, and the simple Christian life that he lived may well be emulated by both young and old. While he was not a preacher, in the common acceptance of the term, but in its true meaning, which is a teacher, he was. He taught by actions what he believed rather than by words. His daily walks through life and conduct under adversities as well as when the hand of destiny rested upon him, was one continuous sermon, more eloquent than human lips could express.

In reflecting upon the sorrows, the temptations and the misfortunes that come in their turn to all, and the discontentment of this life, even to those who are blessed prosperity and the favors such as this world can bestow, we must think that man was created for a higher purpose than he can here fulfil, and that death and the burial does not end all, that there is a better life to be hoped for beyond the grave.

In the death of Uncle Thomas Prater the country has lost a model citizen and a vacancy is made in the family circle.

are again made to note the silent tread of the last enemy, whose hand continues to wield the inevitable scythe of destruction, and at whose bidding the heart that has been drumming the life march of earth for these long years has ceased to perform its functions. Thus an other spirit has returned unto God who gave it.

"Uncle Thomas Prater," as he was called by all who knew him, departed this life at his home near Salyersville, on March 1st, 1912. Age, 87 years.

He had been a consistent member of the M. E. Church for a bout 71 years. He was raised to the sublime degree of a Master Mason at Salyersville, in 1879. Now, Whereas, this brother has entered the fruition of his immortality and heard the morning call of eternity, saying "it is enough, come up higher."

Be it resolved; That we point with pride to the Christian and Masoic world, the noble and character of our departed brother, and that we emulate his integrity and devotion in everything that makes men and the world better by having lived here; so when the voice that called us hence, from whom it gave him grief to part, may we join him in that Grand Lodge above, where no "Silver cord will be loosened," or "Golden bowl be broken," but will dwell throughout eternity, with the Grand Master of the universe presiding.

Be it further resolved; that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our records, a copy sent to the Masonic Home Journal, and Kentucky Mountaineer for publication and one to the widow of the deceased,

Another Republican's View.
GIFFORD.

Mr. Editor:--I saw a request in the Mountaineer asking all Republicans in Magoffin county to say what they thought about using money and whiskey in the primary. I am against the use of whisky first, last and all the time in every conceivable way that can be thought of. It is a deadly enemy to morality. It has besmirched the fair name of Eastern Kentucky. It is the cause, directly or indirectly, of nine-tenths of all the murders that are committed in our country. In fact it is the leading factor in nearly all crimes. Money is a good thing in its place but its place is not in the primary. So, in conclusion, will say that I am very bitter against the use of money and whisky in the primary or any other election. Long live the Mountaineer.
